

Ruben's Rules for Success

You will never achieve anything great in life until you start believing that something inside you is bigger than the circumstances you face.

You can become great by making a decision to pursue your dream in life and by refusing to quit.

Every success you've ever had or will ever have is the product of your courage to act and the courage to endure.

Success is not about how much talent you have. It's about what you do with the talent you do have.

Successful people love the battle, the challenge and the journey. It's about knowing that you did your best.

You will always accomplish more when you follow a coach or mentor.

If you do whatever it takes for however long it takes, success is only a matter of time.

FourWinterGames.com

© Ruben Gonzalez

